
Redland Farm Life School charrette

Rehabilitation and reuse of the 1916 Redland Farm Life School, located at the corner of Southwest 248th Street and 162nd Avenue, will be the subject of a public charrette on Saturday, Oct. 7th.

Project architect Robert Barnes and Michael Maxwell, a consultant on the reuse of historic buildings, will lead the two concurrent sessions scheduled from 9 a.m. until noon at the Silver Palm United Methodist Church.

The church is at 15855 S.W. 248th St.

Barnes will be joined by Bob Jensen, president of the Florida Pioneer Museum Association, for oral history interviews for anyone with historical information about the property.

This team has worked together documenting other local historic buildings.

The public is encouraged to attend and participate.
